

K2

Synthetic Marijuana

What is K2?

K2 is one of many names given to a group of products which, when consumed, imitate the effects of cannabis. Often sold in head shops, convenience stores, and gas stations, some of these products combine a blend of currently legal herbs with chemicals that are unlawful to sell or possess under state or federal law. Other, similar products are being marketed as "legal K2" or "incense" and may contain a variety of potentially toxic chemicals. These substances are NOT LEGAL in New Jersey if they are being sold or inhaled for the purpose of causing inebriation or intoxication. In fact, possession of these substances for these purposes is, in some instances, CRIMINAL.

Physical side effects:

These products are dangerous when inhaled and may produce adverse reactions and physical side effects which include vomiting, agitation, irregular heartbeat, seizures, increased blood pressure, heart damage, psychotic episodes, hallucinations, and drug dependency.

Anyone with information concerning the unlawful sale of these products should contact their local law enforcement authority.

Banned in New Jersey

These samples of K2 and similar products were found at locations in N.J.

To learn more about the ban on products similar to K2 in N.J., visit: NJConsumerAffairs.gov/bathsalts

800-242-5846 ■ www.NJConsumerAffairs.gov

